¹² For greater certainty, a condition for the receipt or continued receipt of an advantage referred to in paragraph 2 does not constitute a “requirement” or a “commitment or undertaking” for the purposes of paragraph 1.

¹³ For the purposes of this Article, the term “technology of the Party or of persons of the Party” includes technology that is owned by the Party or persons of the Part, and technology for which the Party holds, or persons of the Party hold, an executive license.]

4. For greater certainty, paragraphs 1 and 2 do not apply to any commitment, undertaking, or requirement other than those set out in those paragraphs.

days after the tribunal transmits its proposed decision or award, the disputing parties may submit written comments to the tribunal concerning any aspect of its proposed decision or award. The tribunal shall consider any such comments and issue its decision or award not later than 45 days after the expiration of the 60-day comment period.

10. In the event that an appellate mechanism for reviewing awards rendered by investor-State dispute settlement tribunals is developed in the future under other institutional arrangements, mechanism they consider adopting provides for transparency of proceedings similar to the transparency provisions established in Article 12.23]

Article 12.29: Service of Documents

Delivery of notice and other documents on a Party shall be made to the place named for that Party in Annex 12-G (Service of Documents on a Party Under Section B).

Annex 12-B
Customary International Law

The Parties confirm their shared understanding that “customary international law” generally and as specifically referenced in Article 12.6 (Minimum Standard of Treatment) [and Annex 12-C (Expropriation)] results from a general and consistent practice of States that they follow from a sense of legal obligation. [With regard to Article 12.6 (Minimum Standard of Treatment),] [T]he customary international law minimum standard of treatment of aliens refers to all customary international law principles that protect the economic rights [and interests] of aliens.]

Annex 12-C Expropriation

The parties confirm their shared understanding that:

1. Article 12.12(1) (Expropriation and Compensation) is intended to reflect customary international law concerning the obligation of States with respect to expropriation.]
2. An action or series of actions by a Party cannot constitute an expropriation unless it interferes with a tangible or intangible property right or property interest in an investment.
3. Article 12.12(1) addresses two situations. The first is direct expropriation, where an investment is nationalized or otherwise directly expropriated through formal transfer of title or outright seizure.
4. The second situation addressed by Article 12.12(1) is indirect expropriation, where an action or series of actions by a Party has an effect equivalent to direct expropriation without formal transfer of title or outright seizure.
 - (a) The determination of whether an action or series of actions by a Party, in a specific fact situation, constitutes an indirect expropriation, requires a case-by-case, fact-based inquiry that considers, among other factors:
 - (i) the economic impact of the government action, although the fact that an action or series of actions by a Party has an adverse effect on the economic value of an investment, standing alone, does not establish that an indirect expropriation has occurred;
 - (ii) the extent to which the government action interferes with distinct, reasonable investment-backed expectations; and
 - (iii) the character of the government action.
 - (b) Except in rare circumstances, non-discriminatory regulatory actions by a Party that are designed and applied to protect the legitimate public welfare objectives [²³], such as public health, safety, and the environment, do not constitute indirect expropriations.]

[²³ For greater certainty, the list of legitimate public welfare objective in this subparagraph is not exhaustive.]

Annex 12-D

Expropriation

1. An action or a series of actions by a Party [cannot] [shall not] constitute an expropriation unless it interferes with a tangible or intangible property right or property interest in an investment.
2. Expropriation may be either direct or indirect:
 - (a) direct expropriation occurs when a state takes an investor's property outright, including by nationalization, compulsion of law or seizure;
 - (b) indirect expropriation occurs when a state takes an investor's property in a manner equivalent to direct expropriation, in that it deprives the investor in substance of the use of the investor's property, although the means used fall short of those specified in subparagraph (a) above.
3. In order to constitute indirect expropriation, the state's deprivation of the investor's property must be:
 - (a) either severe or for an indefinite period; and
 - (b) disproportionate to the public purpose.
4. A deprivation of property shall be particularly likely to constitute indirect expropriation where it is either:
 - (a) discriminatory in its effect, either as against the particular investor or against a class of which the investor forms part; or
 - (b) in breach of the state's prior binding written commitment to the investor, whether by contract, license or other legal document.
5. Except in rare circumstances to which paragraph 4 applies, such measures taken in the exercise of a state's regulatory powers as may be reasonably justified in the protection of the public welfare, including public health, safety and the environment, shall not constitute indirect expropriation.] [5. Non-discriminatory regulatory actions by a Party that are designed and applied to achieve legitimate public welfare objectives, such as the protection of public health, safety, and the environment do not constitute indirect expropriation.]]
