For Halloween, at last!

We are going to have a deep, and not entirely serious conversation about what the Zombie phenomenon is all about. Of course, our being financially oriented, you know we will also have to delve into Zombie finance.

This is a special – no Money & Markets unless the markets are crashing up or crashing down in a manner more terrifying than Zombies getting access to your online bank and brokerage accounts. Now, is Zombie identity theft worse than the NSA snatching it all anyway? Of course, we will have something to say about the Solari team's favorite Zombie movies. I will review World War Z, the latest big budget zombie apocalypse production.

This week Solari is having a special Ask Catherine. We want you to share your zombie stories. Tell us about a time when you came up against the "Zombie" system and share with us your zombie survival tactics. Has the zombie media turned a horde against you? Are smart phones and television making your friends and loved ones seem just a bit "undead?" Catherine will share the best zombie stories from subscribers on this week's report.

Also, if you've ever had a question you've been yearning to ask about the zombie phenomenon, now is your time to get Catherine's perspective. Submit your questions on the blog!
