Anne Williamson on the Ukraine: Europe's Expansion East - Apr 16

To

There are many lies, but barely one truth."

– Ukraine proverb

I often refer to the central banking / warfare model, a methodology which allows anyone who can create debt in currencies they can print virtually to harvest locations and countries around the globe.

If you look at how the Euro affected southern Europe, it consolidated economic value by shrinking

it. In this way, locations and even complete nations were harvested.

As I look at the squabble between Russia, Europe and the US, what's most frightening is to watch the loss of sovereignty by not just nations but by millions of people.

On this week's Solari Report, I speak with investigative reporter Anne Williamson from Budapest. We will cover this topic and many others:

- What was behind the EU's desire to expand East?
- European goods can enter Russia via the Ukraine — why this makes the country so special.
- Three European nations which have previously invaded Russia — Lithuania, Poland, and Sweden — created trade agreements on Russia's periphery. Why?
- Off-the-radar: the US has sent emissaries to Armenia, Kyrgyzstan, and Georgia to try to stir up more trouble.
- Does the early success of the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank mean that U.S dominance is over?

Highlights from Our Last Report

How do we recreate our world rather than live in limited world created for us? All positive change begins with this question. As Spring fills our world with new birth, I was inspired to ask Jon Rappoport of No More Fake News.com to speak to us about imagination – how it gets torn down and how we build it up.

Reality, as it is presented to us, is NOT our only option. Imagination is that quality that does not simply accept reality as it is presented – it fills us with the power to create our world.

How is imagination torn down? Through disappointment. Through the “practical” advice of those around us who are tied to conformity. It is also diminished through a loss of appetite for adventure. How can we possibly give power to our imaginations if we’ve lost our appetite for adventure?

Why is it that people believe the odds they’re facing are insurmountable? Because they’ve devalued themselves. Consequently, we devalue our imaginations.

Let’s get back to the best of who we are. One might say that to the degree which success has been attained in any area, there has always been a kind of quantum leap, a devil-may-care attitude. Jon invites us to renew our sense of the “leap.”

How important is imagination? Just ask the folks who put their imagination into high gear:

“Logic will get you from A to B. Imagination will take you everywhere.”
– Albert Einstein

“Everything you can imagine is real.”
– Pablo Picasso

“The man who has no imagination has no wings.”
– Muhammad Ali
