THEME TONIGHT: Celebrating Labor

On Work

By Kahlil Gibran

*You work that you may keep pace with the earth and the soul of the earth.
For to be idle is to become a stranger unto the seasons, and to step out of life's procession, that marches in majesty and proud submission towards the infinite.
When you work you are a flute through whose heart the whispering of the hours turns to music.
Which of you would be a reed, dumb and silent, when all else sings together in unison?
Always you have been told that work is a curse and labour a misfortune.
But I say to you that when you work you fulfil a part of earth's furthest dream, assigned to you when that dream was born,
And in keeping yourself with labour you are in truth loving life,
And to love life through labour is to be intimate with life's inmost secret.*

*But if you in your pain call birth an affliction and the support of the flesh a curse written upon your brow, then I answer that naught but the sweat of your brow shall wash away that which is written.
You have been told also that life is darkness, and in your weariness you echo what was said by the weary.
And I say that life is indeed darkness save when there is urge,
And all urge is blind save when there is knowledge,
And all knowledge is vain save when there is work,
And all work is empty save when there is love;
And when you work with love you bind yourself to yourself, and to one another, and to God.
And what is it to work with love?
It is to weave the cloth with threads drawn from your heart, even as if your beloved were to wear that cloth.
It is to build a house with affection, even as if your beloved were to dwell in that house.
It is to sow seeds with tenderness and reap the harvest with joy, even as if your beloved were to eat the fruit.
It is to charge all things you fashion with a breath of your own spirit,
And to know that all the blessed dead are standing about you and watching.
Often have I heard you say, as if speaking in sleep, "He who works in marble, and finds the shape of his own soul in the stone, is nobler than he who ploughs the soil.
And he who seizes the rainbow to lay it on a cloth in the likeness of man, is more than he who makes the sandals for our feet."
But I say, not in sleep but in the overwakefulness of noontide, that the wind speaks not more sweetly to the giant oaks than to the least of all the blades of grass;
And he alone is great who turns the voice of the wind into a song made sweeter by his own loving.
Work is love made visible.
And if you cannot work with love but only with distaste, it is better that you should leave your work and sit at the gate of the temple and take alms of those who work with joy.
For if you bake bread with indifference, you bake a bitter bread that feeds but half man's hunger.
And if you grudge the crushing of the grapes, your grudge distils a poison in the wine.
And if you sing though as angels, and love not the singing, you muffle man's ears to the voices of the day and the voices of the night.*

Reminder again what I put in last Xmas Card

Above all else guard your heart, for from it flows the wellsprings of life”

~Proverbs 4:23

A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you: and I will take away the stony heart out of your esh, and I will give you a heart of esh. ~ezekiel 36:26

Globally, the leading cause of death is heart dis- ease – approximately 7.5 mm deaths a year. Let’s call heart disease what it really is – a broken heart.

If you break that that down in the United States, 611,000 men and women die annually from a broken heart, 16,000 from homicide and 41,000 from suicide. That is to say that 1674 people a day die from a broken heart, 112 from suicide no doubt caused by a broken heart and 43 from homicide, some or all of which are caused by a broken heart.

This means we should be spending at least 40 times as much concern on protecting ourselves and our loved ones from a broken heart as from a violent crime or act.

While I appreciate that it is hard to ignore the latest boogeyman, understand that one of the goals of the people organizing and financing these operations and the subsequent boogeyman media shriek-o-meters is to break your heart.

Consequently, the best thing you can do for your health and your finances today is to nurture your faith, your hope and your love. Feed and strengthen your heart and the hearts of those around you.

Over Labor Day – look at your time budget and see if you do not have opportunities to build more time into your schedule that feeds and strengthens your heart and the hearts of those around you.

University of Chicago Dean of Students John Ellison

Dear Class of 2020 Student:

Welcome and congratulations on your acceptance to the College at the University of Chicago. Earning a place in our community of scholars is no small achievement and we are delighted that you selected Chicago to continue your intellectual journey.

Once here you will discover that one of the University of Chicago's defining characteristics is our commitment to freedom of inquiry and expression. This is captured in the University's faculty report on freedom of expression. Members of our community are encouraged to speak, write, listen, challenge and learn, without fear of censorship. Civility and mutual respect are vital to all of us, and freedom of expression does not mean the freedom to harass or threaten others. You will find that we expect members of our community to be engaged in rigorous debate, discussion, and even disagreement. At times this may challenge you and even cause discomfort.

Our commitment to academic freedom means that we do not support so-called "trigger warnings," we do not cancel invited speakers because their topics might prove controversial, and we do not condone the creation of intellectual "safe spaces" where individuals can retreat from ideas and perspectives at odds with their own.

Fostering the free exchange of ideas reinforces a related University priority—building a campus that welcomes people of all backgrounds. Diversity of opinion and background is a fundamental strength of our community. The members of our community must have the freedom to espouse and explore a wide range of ideas.

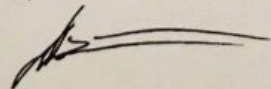

I am enclosing a short monograph by Dean John W. Boyer, the Martin A. Ryerson Distinguished Service Professor in History and Dean of the College, which provides a helpful primer. This monograph, entitled Academic Freedom and the Modern University: The Experience of the University of Chicago, recounts the history of debate, and even scandal, resulting from our commitment to academic freedom.

If you are interested in some of the source material mentioned in Dean Boyer's book, you can find links to the important reports (e.g. the Kalven report, the Stone report, etc.), at the website maintained by our University Provost at <http://freeexpression.uchicago.edu/>.

Again, welcome to the University of Chicago. See you in September!

Sincerely,

Jay

Hi Catherine,

We are looking forward to your Money and Markets, and hope you can explain a bit about what this latest executive order means?

<https://www.whitehouse.gov/the-press-office/2016/08/12/executive-order-providing-order-succession-within-department-treasury>

Thank you!

Jeannie

Good afternoon,

My wife and I are about to close on our mortgage for our new house- with our local credit union, which will keep the mortgage in their portfolio, not sell it on to the feds.

Our sense is that this might give us some leverage if “push comes to shove” and the banks collapse, etc.

My question is this: if the Basel 3 accords are pushed out and bank deposits are “converted” to shares in the bank (lower class shares, of course), would a credit union- already owned by its members-be less at risk of getting such a “haircut”?

That is what is prompting us to hold our mortgage and move our other accounts there.

Thanks for any light you can share! And all of your efforts.

Hi Catherine; I was wondering what you would think about tightening up the language in the conversation re: mind control and being more precise?

A big factor in my decision to become a subscriber and such a raving fan is the fact that not only are you the only person who could make sense of all the financial weirdness I saw going on but couldn't figure out; but you are the ONLY person who talks about finance who ALSO gets the entrainment thing and how its being used.

I've noticed the commentary about commercials, the Chase commercial, etc; and I feel like referring to that "mind control" might actually distract from the increasingly ubiquitous mind control in the forms of entrainment, frequencies, and false flags.

Whereas I do think its good to get people talking about an observing these things; the effect of the Chase pig commercial is community college “Marketing 101” . They put out a commercial that invokes feelings they want you to associate with them. Its whats advertisers have been doing literally pre-dating written language.

Do we really expect them to put out a commercial with bank managers dressed as voracious demonic vampires and their tellers looking like extras from the Walking Dead; munching on the brains of unsuspecting bank customers and turning them into zombies too?

Now; talking about the ways in which these companies are using neuroscience to design and tweak their ads; thats maybe more along those lines...?

(While living in Berkeley, I used to make extra money by doing studies at a place called NeuroFocus. They put an EEG hood on you and hook up all the electrodes, then they track your eye movements by watching a red dot go around the screen. Then they have you watch a commercial. Then you track a green ball; then you watch what appeared to be the same commercial; and you go through 4-5 cycles of this, always with the same brand/commercial. Sometimes the colors of the letters in the Logo would be different, but that was only discernible difference.)

I think this is SUCH an important conversation because its getting SO BAD, and people are being SATURATED, and most don't understand whats going on or why they can't sleep, or why they feel anxious in a certain place for no obvious reason.....

I think maybe a lot of people don't actually KNOW what to look for re: entrainment because they don't know what it is? I mean, its one thing to explain it to someone, but having them experience it and recognize OH, THATS entrainment, is entirely another thing.

I have a unique perspective and experience re: brainwave entrainment that I've been meaning to write to you about.

The only reason I was able to pinpoint it is because I had been using brainwave entrainment almost daily as one of my tools to manage pain and improve cognitive performance when I was suffering through the worst part of an almost deadly bout of Lyme disease.

During that time; I got well enough to watch a TV program with my mother; and about 8 minutes into it I felt my brain "click-in" and entrain with it; and whats interesting is that the entrainment frequency they were using did NOT match the program. It was some kind of crime sort of scary program; and the entrainment frequencies matched the ones associated with a feeling of well-being.

I took that as a 1-off or maybe just a fluke; but I began to notice it every time I happened to be in front of cable television for more than a few minutes. I began searching and searching and the only people who were talking about it seemed so crazy and shreiky that it wasn't even helpful.

FIGHTING ENTRAINMENT WITH ENTRAINMENT. A fabulous way for people to be able to start recognizing entrainment; and to FIGHT unwanted entrainment, is to go on YouTube and find binaural beats and isochronic tones, find some they like and use them. Everyone is a bit different; I have my favourites and I have some that annoy me or don't have the desired effect; but for people to begin to recognize WHAT entrainment feels like, and to understand that, at every moment of the day, our brains are naturally operating on a frequency band—Yeah. Sorry, this got much longer than I had originally intended. Love everything you do!!

YES – warrants more differentiation

Bullying, coercive force

Entrainment and technology

Mind control – criminal hypnosis, mk ultra, implants, electromagnetic weapons

Hi Catherine.

This is proof that you can actually get a tiny bit of truth on cable news, especially on a Saturday when no one is watching!

I just saw an interview on Fox News with astronaut Tom Jones about his new book, "Ask the Astronaut," where he answers more than 340 questions. It's a book aimed at kids/teens.

He was asked, "What's your message to the youth?"

His reply: "We need you. We're going to do great things in space over the next 10, 20, 30 years."

I'm 51 but I feel like I should try to work in a space-related niche industry. Let's embrace the transition, whatever our age!

Have you considered Ellen Brown as a guest? Shes articulate and clear.

Strong disagreement on government vs. private banks locally .

Hi Catherine,
I reread The Black Budget article September 3rd 2003 .

Also just got done reading Summer time/Back to School

Read a subscribers comments on the Solari Report that said something to the effect

" If you hear same story ,observations or experience from enough people that eventually you know it is a reality" .

I have posted snippets of things I have seen or experienced on the internet that I believe relate to the black budget but I have never elaborated on it to the point I have in what I have written below.

I am not looking for a response .

Just thought if you review it an come across someone else who might mention some of the same stuff it will hold more weight .

DID NOT INCLUDE STORY FOR SECURITY REASONS – do want to mention Greer’s video up on website bizarre. A Zika zone. So if your one block over your perfectly fine. Disaster capitalism? But also affecting tourism.

I am missing Ebola.

Hi Catherine,

I was struck by your mentioning of altering the constitution and bill of right because that would truly take away the like power bestowed upon us to govern ourselves. I am really interested how the Feds are moving into state and local government on all levels through House Resolutions 4401. There is a slight of hand happening with language and law that moves power over to unconstitutional agency like homeland security, fusion centers, FEMA, IRS.

Kris anne hall is an expert on the constitution and was a federal prosecutor for 10 years. She truly is a wealth of information and it's incredible to here her teach the 800 year constitutional history of the united states constitution. Listening to her is enlightening and exciting because what she is suggesting is a true solution for the people to reassert our rights and ability to govern. Self responsibility for the mess we are in. Enlightening because she enumerates on how the Federal Gov is overstepping it power that has been bestowed upon it by Us. I would love to hear a conversation between her and you.

HAVE ORDERED BOOKS – not sure when I will get to them.

Hi Catherine –

You may have already discussed, but I would love to hear more in your upcoming M&M comments about the ever-growing chasm between investing in the crony economy and in a truly more productive world.

Especially as we boomers try to hand $$ off to our grown kids, it seems almost like a “damned if you do, damned if you don’t” conundrum. That is, we almost have to begin the process by parking the funds in mainstream index-type products, knowing the life cycle of the underlying investments (CCA, etc.) may be uncomfortably short, as the crony economy reaches its denouement.

But if we choose to do otherwise, we are effectively calling the end of the world’s greatest Ponzi scheme. I have not found a financial advisor who grasps that issue, much less is willing make that call on clients’ behalf. Btw, totally understandable, as far as I am concerned.

I am going thru another iteration in this process now, and I am coming to some highly non-intuitive conclusions; but I would love to hear any input you have on how best to frame the issues and structure the decision process.

Thanks!

I think the whole full-court press to protect Hillary Clinton's emails has little to do with Hillary Clinton. I think it has to do with keeping Bill Clinton - former President of the United States Bill Clinton - from being indicted for conspiracy to sell access to Hillary's State Department.

But first ...

On Friday, former top dog of the Donald Trump campaign, Paul Manafort resigned. This was about two days after the top dog his own self, Donald Trump, hired Stephen Bannon who, like Trump, has never been in a major political campaign before, to be the new top dog.

Trump also hired one of his pollsters, Kellyanne Conway, to be his campaign manager in spite of her never having managed any campaign, at any level, previously.

Ok. So here's what I think happened. This isn't so much political theory as it is a treatment for a screenplay.

On Thursday of last week, a junior employee of Paul Manafort (who held the title of Campaign Chairman at the time) went to a junior employee of Kellyanne Conway (newly anointed Campaign Manager) in Trump Tower with a sheet of paper showing all of Manafort's scheduled appearances on Sunday Morning TV shows.

Conway's staffer took it, retreated into Conway-land, and returned with a piece of paper of her own. He or she said to Manafort's staffer "This is the schedule Kellyanne has approved."

It was a blank sheet of paper.

Manafort resigned on Friday morning.

On the Clinton email front, here's another screenplay: I think we've all been taken in by a massive misdirection operation.

I believe reporter Ron Fournier and I may have been among the first to suggest that the disappearance of all those Hillary emails had nothing (or little) to do with national security, but had a very, very lot to do with an illegally cozy relationship between the Clinton

Foundation and the U.S. Department of State.

Of course, everyone knows that now with the business about the

Nigerian guy who wanted to be on a high-security State Department commission having become public information, but back in the day

Fournier and I were among the few shouting into the wind.

But, I now believe this is a double misdirection. We are being misdirected into thinking that high-level staffers at the Department of State (who were on just about every payroll available in Manhattan and the District of Columbia) and high level Hillary staffers at the Clinton Foundation were fostering these relationships.

Nope.

It's Bill.

With exactly ZERO evidence to support this theory, I now believe that the person most in legal jeopardy of being indicted for conspiracy to sell access to the State Department is the 42nd President of the United States, William Jefferson Clinton.

If Hillary is elected President, the largest rug in the history of the world will be woven under which to sweep this. If Trump is elected, the Ds will scream "POLITICS" and it will be very tough for a Trump-led Justice Department to pursue.

We know Bill. We know that he has learned he can charm (or parse) his way out of anything. He learned how to raise money for his Foundation and for himself and for his wife and for his daughter. He learned how to couch those pleas for funding so they have a reasonable chance of claiming they are legal.

It's another "definition of 'is'" deal.

Forget about Hillary's disappeared emails. Some official entity

needs to subpoena Bill's emails for the four years that Hillary was Secretary of State.

The play for the Ds is not to stop the demands for Hillary's erased emails. The play is to slow walk those demands until Hillary wins the election and buries any hint of Bill's illegally selling access to his wife's staff.

One the http://www.mullings.com/dr_08-22-16.htm Secret Decoder Ring page today: Links to Kellyanne Conway's background (via Cosmo!), Paul Manafort's resignation, and to the NYT's look at the relationship between the Clinton Foundation and the State Department.

Hello Catherine and Staff,

Thank you for the opportunity to contact you with a question. Before doing so, I want to say to Catherine that your work is incredibly helpful. You are quite amazing!

My question is whether I might get advice as to what to do with cash I am holding in an Alaskan credit union.

I have invested in silver and gold coin, have some cash in hand, hold no equities and have no debt. I am recently divorced from a 21-year marriage and receive a monthly amount for a five-year period along with additional larger payments to be made over time totaling $250k.

Thank you for any suggestions you may have.

IMPORTANT QUESTION

PS, While riding the school bus on a crisp Fall morning, '57

Passing the fairway of Number Two of the XXXX Country

Saw Arnie and an older white haired gentleman. Everyone knew Arnie on sight but it took us a minute or two to identify the other gentleman,
President Eisenhower. Just the two of them. 7:30ish in the

Else in sight. Times have changed. Not for the better. The Popsicle

Index of our town at that time was easily 100%. Apparently so too for famous Golfers and Presidents.

Good Day Catherine,

So , if we [humans on the planet] are to become part of the Federation of Planets, might this not require a Mr. Global [one world order] type of government ? Clearly, one trade agreement after another , such as TTP and TISA , are designed and engineered into existence without concern for sovereign nations.

How do the exciting new thresholds we are about to cross, relate to the “ higher spiritual plains “ of humans ?

Truly, this is “ the age of Aquarius “ the Fifth Dimension sang about when we were younger.

AM NOT DOING ON THIS TRIP BUT WILL KEEP IN MIND TO DO RENO ON NEXT TRIP

Hi Catherine

I was curious if in your travels have you ever come across information pertaining to registration of live birth numbers and who is trading on the mutual fund for the birth certificate.?

Or bond on social security card?

Years ago when the whole sovereign citizen popularity was high I talked to a fellow who mentioned if I had a copy of my registration of live birth that the series of numbers on the bottom of the document could be found as being traded on the stock market?

I only have a very bad copy of my birth certificate .

I avoid this area. I believe that is probably some truth to it, but impossible to find good info and tons of misinformation and garbage. DANGER – using digital technology to perfect collateral so that this kind of system can be overtly implemented. Use to track productivity to syndicate – worth more dead than alive. Note story in Washington Post about older white women dying from pharmaceutical poisoning. Life expectancy of white woman with no high school education down by 5 years since 1990.

Dear Catherine,

As a faculty member at our local med school/university, I wanted to ask you about the 'safety' and 'reliability' of TIAA-CREF as retirement accounts.

I have enjoyed very much listening to a few blogs, and your hearty laugh and sense of humor of the absurd are very much welcome against the dark topics you discuss with your wonderful guests. Your chat with Darrell Hamamoto kept me up in the wee hours of the morning- couldn't stop listening just to sleep!

Thank you for this website and your courage and sincerity in putting out this information for your listeners and subscribers!

Keep safe and well, and God bless you.

TIAA –C REEF historically very well managed. Challenge interest rates, but should be more protected. Risk is the system risk. More risks on beneficiary and institution, not TIAA-CREFF

Dear Catherine,

Assuming that the article about Iceland regarding forgives entire population its debt is TRUE, how do you feel about the idea? Will it be beneficial?

Appreciate your special reports and guests....

Hi Catherine; Quick update on my efforts to switch to a local bank:

I made the list, looked at websites, made phone calls, looked at financial statements (um.... can your next segment please be “How to Open a Local Bank”?)

Banks that don't have their financial statements published on the SEC site; most of them DO have published financial statements; its just on a different website.

<https://cdr.ffiec.gov/public/ManageFacsimiles.aspx>

I was instructed to search for the “Call report” and, for banks that have more than one branch, it will be listed in the city they've designated as their main branch location.

But—they didnt want me-!!

They wouldn't take me on as a customer because I don't have a permanent local address. They said that even within their other branches, their policy is that customers must live no further than approx 60 miles from the branch they're applying at.

I got a recommendation from a neighbour, and after looking at their finances, I will be trying my luck with another bank closer.

GOOD WORK – Two Solari Reports on the details if it helps.

Dear Catherine:

I would love for you to ask the following question of Franklin Sanders when you interview him:

Do you see a time when gold will finally break free of the continued downward manipulation of its price? Or do you believe that its price will always be held down substantially below what it would really become in a free market?

No way to know, but fundamentals matter

Dear Catherine:

In your opinion, what must we do as American citizens to take control of our government back?

See productivity theme/PDF published next week – recording a Place Based this month.

Hi Catherine,
I'm looking for a bank or banks that will be strong enough to survive a global derivatives meltdown. Do you know of any services I can use to assess these or do you have any banks that you can recommend?

Best regards,

Let's Go to the Movies

In Let's Go to the Movies I will discuss the controversial autism documentary Vaxxed – what it is about, why the controversy, and why it is important to you to understand the issues. Essentially, if autism continues to grow at current rates, it will overwhelm the educational and health care system and have a devastating human and economic impact. It is essential that we figure out what causes autism and reverse the trends.

Important to watch – Understand your real risk $5 MILLION and your family severely harmed or destroyed

Why is system not self correcting? Because this is a form of slow moving depopulation

INTERVIEW

Has the bull reasserted?

Are we in a correction or could gold and silver take another leg down?

“Life is a series of natural and spontaneous changes. Don't resist them – that only creates sorrow. Let reality be reality.” ~Lao Tzu

By Catherine Austin Fitts

Franklin Sanders will join me next week for the precious metals market report. Franklin will walk us through what has happened in the gold and silver markets this year. We will discuss the current correction and how gold and silver prices may be impacted by the Fed decision in September.

We will also discuss the end of the debt-financed growth model and what it means to the outlook for precious metals. Whether the fury at the Fed, the high disapproval ratings of the Presidential candidates, the growing concern about falling productivity growth, what appears to be an unraveling of Obamacare and the growing pressure to reengineer government budgets in the United States and worldwide — all of these matters make it clear that the costs of centralization, secrecy and privilege have become unbearable.

Franklin recently published a joke that I just have to share.

“It reminds me of the two old boys, Willie & Earl, who used to drive trucks together. Willie was being tested to renew his license, & the inspector asked him, “Suppose you are going down the long steep grade of Monteagle Mountain, and suppose further that your brakes went out. Now suppose that you look at the foot of the mountain and see 35 cars in front of you waiting for a railroad train to pass. What would you do next?” Willie never hesitated. “I’d wake up Earl.” Inspector said, “Wake up Earl? Why on earth would you wake up Earl?” Willie shot back, “Cause he ain’t never seen a wreck like this!”

We have never quite seen a wreck like the one into which we are headed. A recent report in Tennessee where Franklin and I live concludes that 50 percent of the current jobs will be replaced with automation. It really is time to rebuild our local economies, centralization be damned!
