INTERVIEW

“But what do we mean by the American Revolution? Do we mean the American war? The Revolution was effected before the war commenced. The Revolution was in the minds and hearts of the people; a change in their religious sentiments of their duties and obligations.” ~ John Adams

PLEASE LISTEN TO INTERVIEW – PLEASE READ
INTRODUCTION AND HOW TO ENFORCE IN CONSTITUTION THEM ON WEB PRESENTATION

I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore choose life, that both thou and thy seed may live.” ~ Deuteronomy 30:19

Twenty years ago, I made a decision. I had to choose between my wealth and social position and my core principles. I had to decide which was more important to me – to remain a member of the establishment or to refuse to be a party to genocide; to choose individual sovereignty or high-paid slavery. I think of that decision often these days as I watch the American people individually and collectively approach a similar decision point. I made my choice early. Now, everyone who has not made that choice will be forced to make it, as well. The middle of the road is disappearing. Each of us will have to defend our individual sovereignty and the sovereignty and rights of those around us. The alternative is to watch our federal government and our military engage in an acceleration of global war and profiteering. The private companies and investors who currently exercise control over our government are using it to operate violently and above the law. Global surveillance and the ability to murder with impunity is the real source of inequality. Our risks of high tech slavery, poverty, or death are rising as state and local governments write down pension funds and write off essential services such as functioning water and sewer systems.

As US citizens reach these crossroads, we will make our decisions individually and collectively. Since 1776, US citizens have enjoyed the blessings and protection of one of the most powerful covenants ever made – consisting of the US Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and, most importantly, the US Constitution. That covenant has been under assault for a long time and enforcement has been far from perfect. However, the forces that would completely shred the US Constitution have now assembled for an all-out assault.

As I said in our latest Annual Wrap Up 2016 in January, the period of “slow burn” and “kick the can” are over and we have entered a period of controlled demolitions. Significant legal and retirement obligations are being abrogated or written down daily. A major overhauling of institutions is underway, in many cases necessitated by two decades of a financial coup d’Etat.

Those of us who are US citizens can either enforce the Constitution or lose it. As an out-of-control military industrial complex destroys productivity and perpetuates war globally, the impact of our success or failure on global citizens will be profound. Billions of people throughout the planet should be praying that we get this right.

The theme of our Solari Report 2nd Quarter Wrap Up 2017 is dedicated to helping you understand the importance of the choice that American citizens now face and to begin a conversation about HOW. How can we protect and reinvigorate the US Constitution for ourselves and our children, for future generations, and for people who desire freedom throughout the planet? This quarterly wrap up follows our special Solari Report in February, American Suicide: Proposals for Constitutional Amendments & Convention with Edwin Vieira, Jr. – a report which was inspired by requests from subscribers who are fearlessly fighting state legislative proposals for a Constitutional Convention or “Con-Con.”

To ensure that Solari Report subscribers have access to insider expertise, I flew to Bangladesh to spend a week with former Congresswoman Cynthia McKinney. For many years, Dr. McKinney was the most powerful Congressional voice against trillions disappearing from the US government and that money’s relationship to multiple crimes against humanity – including global human slave trafficking. I would like to thank Dr. McKinney for hosting me in Bangladesh and for her generous contribution of time and formidable intellect and experience. As always, our 2nd Quarter Wrap Up includes a summary of the last 90 days of news – News Trends & Stories – and financial charts – Financial Markets. We have added a section in News Trends & Stories called “Going Local” reflecting our Top Picks editor Brad Eddins’ commitment to spend more time finding and publishing examples of local action and success. As always, Brad has done an incredible job of assembling the stories in the News Trends & Stories section.

Given the acceleration of events and the resulting explosion of important news, we have added a section called Long Term Trends to help focus on some of the most important trends we have been tracking for many years – as well as links to prior Wrap Ups and Solari Reports that will help you dive into our archives for more.

We have also added a section called Solari Core Concepts in response to subscriber requests regarding how to access information on concepts critical to our analysis of current events: “control files,” “entrainment,” or “pushing the red button.” We thought a list of core concepts with links to some great materials in the Solari Report libraries would help you get more value from your subscription.

Our 1st Quarter Wrap Up 2017 covered the first 70 days of the Trump Administration and included a “report card” grading the new administration in numerous categories. With input from Dr. Joseph Farrell, we have updated this report card for the 2nd Quarter Wrap Up 2017.

Finally, under Financial Markets, we have updated our Annual Wrap Up 2015 list of companies involved in space, dividing them between companies whose stocks are traded in US, Europe, and Asia as well as private space companies and governmental organizations. The space-based economy is growing and will continue to do so as we become a multi-planetary civilization.

In one sense, our efforts regarding the missing money and enforcement of the Constitution are about whether or not we will equitably share the benefits of our taxpayer investment in this effort.

In addition to a week in Bangladesh during the 2nd Quarter, I was able to spend a week in Hong Kong as that great city marked its 20th anniversary under Chinese rule. The people of Hong Kong are struggling with the same forces of central control that we are struggling with in the United States. Freedom brings innovation, productivity and prosperity. When centralized power wants the benefit of that prosperity, it threatens the legal foundations and the resulting trust and financial liquidity that are essential to such prosperity. All around us, the forces of global control threaten to kill “the goose that laid the golden egg.”

Prior to visiting Hong Kong, I spent three weeks in Australia. That trip included a great lunch with Solari Report subscribers at the Fish Café in Sydney on my last day there. This visit also provided advance planning for our upcoming subscriber trip to Uluru in the Australian Outback (May 2018 with Richard Dolan and Jason Bawden-Smith).

Another special event in the 2nd Quarter was our lunch in Louisville Kentucky in May to celebrate the successful funding of Phase I and Phase II of the Dr. Joseph P Farrell Virtual Pipe Organ Crowdfund. Dr. Farrell prepared a special speech, “On Culture, Politics and Organ Music” which you can find at the crowdfund website. Special thanks to colleagues Chuck McCorkle and Kathy Churay and the many generous donors for helping to make this dream come true. Stay tuned for a virtual pipe organ delivery in the 3rd Quarter!

I am currently writing from San Francisco with plans to head to Maine, New York, Santa Fe (opera!), Switzerland, Austria (more opera!), Germany (Beethoven!!!), Italy, the Netherlands, and Iceland during the 3rd Quarter.

Getting to know you as I travel is one of the finest benefits of serving a global audience of Solari Report subscribers.

Just remember, whatever challenges lie before us, we have the capacity to gather our power and rise to the occasion.

Yes, we can!

Catherine Austin Fitts

US Independence Day, July 4, 2017

By Catherine Austin Fitts

This week observes Independence Day in the United States. So it is highly appropriate that former Congresswoman Cynthia McKinney join me on the Solari Report to discuss our theme for the 2nd Quarter Wrap Up: what the US Constitution is, why it is so important, the devastating possibilities if it is changed, and the human future that is possible if we enforce it. Indeed, enforcing it is the US citizens' sole remaining option. Unless we do so, the US war machine will run out of control – and it will continue to expropriate our assets and our lives, including the lives and futures of our children and those of billions of other people globally.

For many years we have known that invisible forces have run our government from behind the scenes — not just in Washington, but also in state houses and municipalities. For many years, most of us were willing to go along or to continue to work within the socially acceptable political process as small groups of other people acted “above the law” at increasingly greater harm in terms of human life, environment, and personal health and wealth, throughout America and the world.

The list of presidents, congressman, senators, mayors, government officials, soldiers, journalists, activists and honest business and civic leaders who have been assassinated, “suicided,” poisoned, falsely slandered and framed, entrapped, or dirty tricked in rigged elections is long and growing. The allegations of control file operations that depend on pedophilia, financial fraud, and organized crime also increase. The number of dual-passport citizens within the Congress and our federal bureaucracy calls into question just who is in charge and whose national interests direct our military. We have the senate minority leader declaring on national television that the President is not in charge – he must do what the intelligence agencies tell him. The governance questions are profound.

Money and violence are the heart of these issues. The United States has spent $14 trillion on global wars over the last 30 years because Congress finances war and because Congress tolerates illegal and unconstitutional financial practices at the US Department of Defense and US Treasury. In 2015, the DOD alone was missing $6.5 trillion in undocumentable adjustments. Even now the US Treasury cannot produce audited financial statements for the US Government, as required by law, and has not produced accurate and understandable place-based financial reporting.

Now we have reached a fork in the road. We can continue to become an inhuman society in which the law no longer respects or protects the average person and his or her property, or we can try to remain a human society, in which the rule of law protects one and all – including the people in the developing world who have been the target for much longer of the disaster capitalism and lawlessness attacking US and European communities.

No one else knows this system better than former Congresswoman McKinney. She served with distinction for 12 years in the US Congress from the Georgia 4th and 11th districts. Now a professor of political science who teaches organizational change and leadership as well as entrepreneurship in Asia, Congresswoman McKinney has worked through these issues at both practical political and business levels as well having as an American intellectual engaged with global students and academics.

Our 2nd Quarter Wrap Up also launches our written contribution to a discussion of how – how do many of us working individually and collectively successfully achieve enforcement of the US Constitution? We are in the invention room together – and this is something we can and will figure out if enough of us make the commitment to do so. You want to make sure you review our written web presentation which covers all four weeks of this 2nd Quarter 2017 Wrap Up – – including News Trends & Stories, Parts I & II and Financial Markets.

Stay tuned for two great weeks of 2nd Quarter Wrap Up – News Trends & Stories, Part I & Part II with Dr. Joseph P. Farrell, followed by my Equity Overview with a Blockbuster Chartology from Rambus.

I fly to the United States today from Bangladesh through Hong Kong and will cover current events in Money & Markets from San Francisco on Thursday as well. Please make sure to post or e-mail your questions for Ask Catherine.

Hi Catherine, Julian Assange has recommended we take a look at Pursuance System. It is unapologetically technocratic but, the question to my mind is, will it well serve us? Your thoughts? Thank you.

Asked one of my favorite engineers to take a look.

Dear Catherine,

My name is Harry, I live in central California, and would like to work with your team to solve the “County input-output government finances” math model, which you have worked before.

This offer of working with you comes from your idea in several of your talks “If we could calculate the input/output of government funds through your congressional district, or through your county We could bring back fiscal control and an understanding of your regions finances, one region at a time”

I’ll be attending your luncheon talk in Larkspur this Saturday the 8th, and would to talk to you and/or be connected to one of your team to get involved.

A few weeks ago several middle east countries placed an embargo against Qatar, one being Saudi Arabia.

Pres Trump announced weapon sales to Saudi Arabia, then turned around to sell weapons to Qatar despite claiming Qatar supports terrorists.

Then Qatar announces a 30% increase of production of natural gas.

Hi, Catherine,

I think you should read this post by an intelligent lay Catholic, a Vatican & Catholic Church observer who has had more than the usual knowledge about the Vatican goings-on for many years. He runs his own blog page, OnePeter5.

Always enjoy your interviews. Thank you for sharing all the invaluable information no one else really focuses on with us!

Have you been able to find out who is funding Citizens for Self Governance (The organization that is behind COS) This info will be key in stopping Utah's call for an Article V convention. I have been so frustrated by the lack of cooperation among the various groups that want to stop a con-con. Last week, suggested to friends who are the state chairs of Eagle Forum of Utah and the head of Campaign for Liberty that we form a coalition which could be the key to thwarting COS efforts.

Provo Utah has a big Freedom Festival every July 4th and COS got a booth. So the head of the Eagle Forum reserved a booth $400. The head of Campaign for Liberty set up the website for the coalition which is being updated by me. We have had tri-fold brochures printed, set up an account to receive donations, signed up volunteers, and already have many organizations and individuals on board. Here is our website (more to be done but our focus has been making to through the holiday) : www.standstrongfortheconstitution.com This site with your permission link your interview with Edwin Vieira Jr. I have personally put up this site Callingaoncon.weebly.com that you might find interesting.

When I was interviewed this week on Liberty Roundtable, the hosts said that all 50 states should have such a coalition.

Would you like to have your name added to our coalition list? Stand Strong for the Constitution.

We look forward to hearing from you!

We have donated, posted link – recommended.

Good Morning, Afternoon or Evening Catherine:

An idea for a Solari Report supplement to food security, have you considered interviewing the REAL climate scientists regarding the Grand Solar Minimum which essentially means that our sun is going to sleep for a number of decades. Sleeping Sun means a great reduction in sunspots which is the big driver of our climate. A mini ice age is upon us; the evidence is clear. This will have dramatic effects on our food production globally. If this is of interest to you, two wonderful researchers are Ben Davidson (suspiciousobservers.com) and John Casey (veritence.net.)

Thank you Catherine,,you are MAGNIFICENT!

No – need a Richard Dolan of weather and geophysical risks.

Catherine,

Let me start by thanking you again for linking me up with John it's been great.

I was wondering if you had seen this report on the decision making leading to the missile strike on Syria and, if you had, what did you make of it? Disinformation? Wrong? Right? (God forbid!) Hersh has always struck me as a pretty decent contrarian voice, but, of course, you don't get where he is without paying the Establishment toll, so I'm stumped.

<https://amp.welt.de/amp/politik/ausland/article165905578/Trump-s-Red-Line.html>

For my part, I've always considered myself a decent professional geopolitical and military analyst, not in Saker's league, but right more often than wrong (mostly 'cause I listen to folks like you and Saker :-)). I confess to not having the foggiest as to who is running things, whether the President is crazy like a fox, in completely over his head, controlled by his son-in-law, or little green guys, or what. I realize the shriek-o-meter is turned full gain, but noise vs. signal is getting hard for even those who know how to filter . . . I'd be interested in your thoughts at this stage.

Here's a quote from the latest Early Warning Report.

A few years ago we at Henry Madison Research tried to find a country where US officials do not meddle. We couldn't do it. Out of the total global roster of 206 countries, we found 206 active cases where US politicians and bureaucrats were sticking their noses into their internal affairs.

The Vietnam model actually stretches back to WWI. Did you know that in 1918, federal troops were sent to invade Russia? Russians remember, but Americans are rarely told about the inexcusable behavior of federal power junkies abroad. Years after the fact, US troops on such missions sometimes figure out the truth about what they were doing. But the schools taught them that the country and the government are the same. They don't want to sound disloyal to the country, so they rarely say much.

Taiwan: The U.S. Senate Armed Services Committee voted to allow U.S. Navy warships to make port calls in Taiwan and allow reciprocal visits at U.S. ports. If ratified by the full Senate and implemented by the White House, the measure would mark a notable break from longstanding U.S. policy toward China and Taiwan. Since the 1970s, the United States has been more hawkish toward Beijing's "One China" policy. But given all the negotiations between the Trump administration and Beijing, we are trying to determine whether this is more than standard congressional posturing – and whether it has potential to become leverage against Beijing.

- Finding: This is a longer-term watch item, starting with whether the measure moves toward approval in the full Senate. It's worth noting that, on June 30, the State Department approved a $1.4 billion arms sale to Taiwan – the first such sale since 2015.

Put in script

it is the merger of virtual and place where the power is - and using one to leverage the other.

What happened with the USS Fitzgerald?

Don't know yet. It is theoretically possible that something covert happened to jam radar etc. However, I suspect that it was captain and crew error on the USS Fitzgerald - the result of many years of insufficient maintenance and training to maintain standards.

This is what happens when you run your military to provide defense contracts that keep the stock market up and require all navy personnel to go through transgender training.

The transgender sensitive crew was busy looking at their smart phones.

I blame this entirely on the military industrial establishments greed. If you want a unipolar empire and a reserve currency than you need a mission ready military.

My vote is for a reengineered mission ready military that is effective in a multipolar world.

And Dr. Dietrich Klinghardt on autism. I think he has a very interesting insight.

Yes. There is something happening with the combination of EMF radiation plus vaccines that we need to understand. It is making crazy with the electroagnetic fields of humans - including autism.
