Story of $21 Trillion Missing reverberating

This is only the beginning as the dawning realization is that this is real money.

SYSTEMIC LACK OF INTEGRITY – AND DESTRUCTIVENESS IS EVER MORE APPARENT

Fed raises interest rates again this week – but large banks can still borrow at 1-1.5% while the citizens who fund their bank deposit insurance and bailouts pay 10-25%,

The banks have real tax rates that are lower than citizens and are not subject to prosecution for crimes and are not subject to death penalty, as humans are.

This is a formula that reflects the absence of markets and the absence of law – the more that becomes apparent, the more $21 missing money will matter

Lets look at what has happened this week and this fall with the Missing Money vs. Defense Budgets

Skidmore Report published on September 23

But old spin repackaged is not working

Dec 8 Forbes publishes missing money story co-authored by Skidmore and Kotlikoff – very big deal

December 11 Michigan State University publishes article on Skidmore's efforts – very big deal

December 12 Trump signs $700 B Defense – Lockheed gets funding for 90 F-35s – should be app $10 billion order

Creation of US Space Corp – chief beneficiary

Dec. 12 (UPI) -- President Donald Trump signed into law

Tuesday the 2018 National Defense Authorization Act, a $700 billion defense budget that seeks to increase military spending and operational capabilities.

The bill includes measures like the establishment of a U.S. Space Corps within the Air Force by 2019, a 2.4 percent pay raise for troops, special pay for situations like combat and hazardous duty and bonuses for re-enlistment contracts.

What is going on?

What do I expect?

Professional military going to use tighter headlines and audits to get financial control to counterbalance

Congress – generating stock market profits and campaign contributions

Contractors – failure to perform on an economic basis; too much power

Run operations and contracts according to performance not politics

My high-octane speculation –deal this summer – military faction settles bones this summer with Gates and techies - Swung contracts into Amazon

Amazon #1 user of website by 1000X after Forbes and MSU piece

Still trying to work my way out of Amazon.

What I want – reverse the spin in favor of sovereignty and money spent positive ROI

Cannot allow taxpayers money to richly subsidize a group that can than tag themselves as productive and the people providing the subsidy as unproductive - while they continue to tax and drain the productive.

So this is going to continue to an important effort at Solari

<http://missingmoney.solari.com>

The footnote dance with DOD – see note - several days of searching and work

Flushing out the fake fake news – Zero Hedge – refuses to mention. Lots of comments on Zero Hedge discussing why they make a big deal out of audit but will not publish Skidmore's study or Forbes piece – no mention of $21 Trillion

Deep Survival

A Review of The Unthinkable: Who Survives When Disaster Strikes – and Why

by Catherine Austin Fitts

One of my favorite books is Laurence Gonzales' Deep Survival .

Laurence has joined me on The Solari Report — I highly recommend this interview to subscribers — Deep Survival. Deep Survival is about who lives and who dies in traumatic wilderness experiences. Beautifully written, it has profound lessons for all of us in this day and age.

Consequently, I was skeptical when a subscriber whom I hold in very high regard suggested that I read Amanda Ripley's The Unthinkable: Who Survives When Disaster Strikes – And Why.

Ripley's study of how people behave in disasters – plane crashes, tornados, floods, fires, bombings — and what we can learn from it is quite well written and very useful. Since most of us do not spend time mountain and rock climbing, Ripley covers many of the life threatening experiences that we are more likely to encounter.

Ripley's investigations underscore in most disaster events that we are essentially on our own for the most critical period. That's not all bad given that the kindness of strangers and volunteer heroics mark many responses in such times. However, as Ripley points out there is a lot we can learn from disaster experience and this knowledge can increase our chances of helping ourselves and many others if disaster should come.

On a day when the world feels like it is coming apart at the seams, reading Ripley is a positive action that makes us better prepared. While enjoying a well researched and well written book, I was rejuvenated by the quiet heroism that marks the human condition.

30 SECOND BREAK

ASK CATHERINE

Hi Catherine, I listened to the Year End Tax Planning report and I wanted to direct your attention to the Roth Backdoor that really makes the discussion of contribution limits a moot point. Anyone of any income can contribute to a Roth IRA. The backdoor strategy has been around for at least 10 years. The way it works is for an individual to contribute to a non-deductible IRA as a first step and then subsequently transfer over to the Roth. I first was alerted to this option about 15 years ago on Bob Brinker and there are multiple white papers on it, but I think its an important consideration as part of any year end or year beginning tax planning. Finally, how do I get a hard copy of your Solari report on filtering investments from a couple years back? Also are you going to be offering “premium” memberships where we can always receive hard copies of the Solari Report? Didn’t see that as an option for purchase. Anyway, thanks for the great blog - really tremendous stuff.

Excellent feedback I am sending you a complimentary one as thanks for pointing out the Roth Backdoor.

From Dr. Joseph F.

This is a crucial article...lays out the steps of your transition of Global 2 to Global 3... might definitely be an article to include in the quarterly wrap up

<https://www.naturalnews.com/2017-12-10-evidence-points-to-bitcoin-being-an-nsa-psyop-roll-out-one-world-digital-currency.html>

Dear Catherine,

I have heard you talk about looking back at your family history to see the ways they have been harvested. I started to do this when my mother was diagnosed with terminal cancer early this year. What I found truly surprised me, because I realized that they had been harvested in so many big and little ways. It was an extremely depressing exercise! I apologize if this isn't particularly relevant to the discussion at this time.

My great grandmothers were from the midwest and were both left penniless when they were widowed. Our family has a letter from the State of North Dakota written in the early thirties asking my grandfather's mother to leave the state as they did not have any need for any more "welfare cases." My grandmother's mother lost everything when her husband died of tuberculosis. The death of my great uncle in the Pacific during WWII gave them enough money to exist on.

My grandparents were able to survive on one income and raise a family. My grandfather's pension from Boeing funded their retirement. Then, my grandmother passed and eventually my grandfather needed long term care. They did not buy insurance and had a paid off house. That was sold and split to pay for care, qualify for medicaid and the rest was given to his children. It mostly went to pay their debts. The one family “asset” was gone to pay for nursing home care a long with his pension, savings and other stuff.

I was raised by a single mother. My father suffered from mental illnesses and I later learned had a hidden opiate addiction combined with a not so hidden alcohol addiction. He had some success, but is now homeless and I have lost track of him. My mother worked two retail jobs for upwards of 30 years to raise my brother and I. I don't know how she made ends meet, but she did. And although we qualified for government assistance, there was absolutely no way we would take it. She had a pension from one of the stores that went bankrupt. It brought in a whopping $174 per month.

She smoked. She came from an era when cigarettes were marketed as a “healthy way to lose weight.” I recall that so much of our lives were impacted by her addiction. Most of her “discretionary” spending went to nicotine. She tried to quit many times but couldn't. Eventually the habit took her life.

I had one dear uncle, who worked relentlessly and tirelessly toward a vision of retiring at 55. He died of leukemia at 54. Another one was killed in a car wreck when he was hit by a drunk driver.

What strikes me and frankly disturbs me as I look back on things were the multiple and almost nefarious ways that the past generations in my family were harvested. Early deaths wiped out any chance that my great grandparents had of building any wealth. Addictions to substances both prescribed and over the counter took away health and wealth. Happiness was eroded by the never ending desire to “look good” and keep up with the Joneses.” And, eventually, waiting at the end of the road were uninsured medical bills and long term care facilities. And through it all, inflation just kept creeping up. My grandparents house had appreciated a lot since they first bought it for $14,000.00. But by then, nursing care was north of $5,000/month, and property taxes and maintenance costs has ballooned.

As I look around at the families I know, I realized that in most cases, there was never any thought or opportunity to pass on any real intergenerational wealth. It was all sold or liquidated to cover bills, debts, or other “keep up with the Joneses” expenses. So many hours of hard work and toil gone.

My brief description doesn't cover it all, but it was definitely a context shifting exercise. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to you and the Solari Team. And on a final note, listening to you and Franklin Sanders and other talk about spiritual warfare and the Prayer Book has gotten me through an incredibly dark and difficult year. Thank you for all that you do. For your hard work and service has given my family the wisdom to turtle on and the love to stick together, and the knowledge that things will get better.

With Love,

VERY VERY WORTH EXERCISE – thank you for writing. It can be hard to do – but starts to teach you a whole other way to approach life and avoid being harvested.

Living History

Catherine

During your visit with Bill Binney did he say that NSA is able to monitor ham radios?

Can they? Do you know?

DID NOT DISCUSS...You e-mailed and said you contacted and he did not know.

What are the chances this will be done honestly?

<http://www.zerohedge.com/news/2017-12-10/pentagon-undergo-first-ever-audit-after-decades-sloppy-accounting-and-missing-trilli>

DEPENDS on what you mean by honestly. I don't see how you can have an honest report without making the black budget transparent – what is really going on and where is the money going.

Can the professional military get much tighter control and reengineer to a positive return on investment – performance instead of politics and corporate subsidy. Yes.

Do they intend to find and get back the $21 trillion and get it back? Unlikely. Is there the political will to claw back from monies not spent legitimately – unlikely.

That is why it is essential to keep the questions being asked. Must do it in away that supports the insiders looking to run things clean – so it continues to increase their leverage.

Cheers

MATTIS, NORQUIST, KELLY – MUCH TIGHTER CONTROL, WILL ATTEMPT OT SHIFT NEGATIVE ROI TO POSITIVE return on investment ON MILITARY BUDGETS

How do you recommend hedging in the equity markets?

There has to be a correction some time, and I have been saying this for a year and a half, but over that time, particularly in the last year, as we know, the market has shot up. I thought it was high two years ago, and so now that it keeps reaching historic highs, it has become even more scary.

So how do you recommend hedging investments against a correction or crash?

USE PUTS – Take course and learn how to do – I recommend a money manager who specializes in this strategy.

Dear Catherine,

I listened to your podcast with Richard Dolan where he said that he was reading Hayek (!!!!!) about how economies can't be centrally managed and I swear I heard you say that freedom was the most important thing... Ha! You're a libertarian whether you admit it or not. It sounded like you were familiar with the point Hayek made, so what's the deal. Do you read Hayek and Mises with your flashlight under the covers at night or what?

Ja, ja, ja... Shall I send you Power and Market for xmas?

Dear Catherine,

I assume that this is not something you can post now but I did want you to know about it if you have not already heard about it.

There is a person (called Q) in the white house (probably) that has been posting to a 4chan forum under "politically incorrect" since October 2017. He/she appears to be a modern day "deep throat". His/her postings have normally been in the form of questions and they are mixed among many other postings. It is very difficult to follow but some people have made the effort to bring the postings together.

2 of those efforts follow:

https://www.dropbox.com/s/9c5opewwh3owxwe/Book_of_Q.pdf?dl=0&m=

<https://app.smartsheet.com/b/publish?EQBCT=e3d1071b533c412f8bc08ebbb1b444f6>

Several important disclosures included that Tony Podesta and Huma Abedin , both who have been missing, have been arrested and are talking. Three days ago, Q said that Hillary has been arrested. He/She said that Hillary wanted to make a deal but "they" said no. I think they said no because she is in a video with pedophilia found on Anthony Weiner's laptop. They have already arrested many lower placed individuals involved in the pedophilia.

The postings explain why POTUS has many generals around him and how they are draining the swamp. The upheaval in Saudi Arabia is a part of that. The displaced Saudis were controlling many here in the US.

Do some research and pass on information verbally but it is probably too early to post to the web site.

Pray for those involved. Pray for the children.

I am aware that your time is precious and every disturbance caused by such an e-mail can be extremely annoying. Nevertheless, I must assume all the inconveniences of an apparently trivial approach and dip my toe in the water to make you a big request.

My girlfriend is a huge admirer of yours, she listened to dozens of your conferences and your discussions with Dr. Farrell, she read your interviews and articles and challenged me in many discussions on the topics that you approached.

It would be an immense joy for me if I could make her a surprise on her birthday, 11 December, and have you on the phone for 2 minutes (or to have a short written message for her).

It would be extraordinary if you accepted. If not, your refusal would be absolutely understandable and would not affect in the least our great consideration for you and your extraordinary work.
